

It's time to find a better deal for your electricity, LPG and hot water heating

The Queensland Competition Authority recently published increased electricity tariffs and in doing so advised the maximum that you may be charged by a retailer.

Every business should be paying less than the recent published tariffs.

Every retailer wants your business, and will be willing to negotiate. Find your Energy Champion within your business who will take an ongoing interest in your energy costs and then take that first step of making sure you are paying the lowest price possible for your energy rates.

Electricity is the obvious cost but do not forget about LPG. Many LPG contracts roll on after their expiry, with the retailer increasing the rate each period. Once it expires, be sure to negotiate a new agreement.

FIND YOUR ENERGY CHAMPION WITHIN YOUR BUSINESS WHO WILL TAKE AN ONGOING INTEREST IN YOUR ENERGY COSTS AND THEN TAKE THAT FIRST STEP OF MAKING SURE YOU ARE PAYING THE LOWEST PRICE POSSIBLE FOR YOUR ENERGY RATES.

1. Know your options; a retailer will only offer you what they think you will accept.
2. Take steps to appoint your Energy Champion.

3. Find the lowest possible price for your electricity.
4. Find the lowest possible price for your LPG.
5. Find out about your hot water heating options.
6. Learn what your highest costs are.
7. Find solutions that can reduce or help manage these costs.

There are many different ways to collect data dependent on what meters or data recorders you have. These can range from the meter you have onsite, an electrical data logger, or you can start with your Energy Champion identifying the activity in your business and comparing it with your consumption.

Once you have the data you can start to change and in turn start to save. M
